This list gives no accurate view of your political strength you know not what they will do until they are called on that subject under Sandisfield Becket Pere and some societies which I have not visited this summer and know not how many there may be friendly to independent political action But the strong tendency of Whig abolitionists is to vote this once for Harrison. The men of the hopeless part now are emphatically men of one idea, that one obscures every thought. 'tis in vain to perhaps to them to add another to the list especially so insignificant an one as the name of

I send you a list of the leading Abolitionists of this County as complete as I am able to give. There are but twenty one towns in this County of much importance on any great moral subject The others are small towns and waste places. I have understood that who are friendly to independant nomination yet in relation to some of them I may be mistaken. There are constant changes in the views of some of which I may not be apprised. I have not made that form of political action a prominent object in my efforts the summer past having left it for Torrey or whosoever of you might visit this County for that express purpose.
